APPENDIX “A”

CANADIAN SPORT FOR LIFE (CS4L) – LTAD FRAMEWORK

Sport Manitoba’s plans, programs and grants are more and more being directed to support the emerging Canadian Sport for Life (CS4L) movement which also serves to connect sport’s goals and outcomes with those of our partners in education, recreation and healthy living.

The Canadian Sport for Life – Long-Term Athlete Development includes seven stages beginning with providing an Active Start (Stage 1) in physical activity for pre-school children. Young children learn FUNDamentals (Stage 2) basic movement skills in physical education classes and general multi-sport skills through participation in local “learn to” recreational programming. Local and provincial sport organizations roles begin with their development of sport specific skills within Learning to Train (Stage 3) and Training to Train (Stage 4). Some athletes move into Training to Compete (Stage 5) and possibly into Training to Win (Stage 6) as well as for many people who remain Active for Life (Stage 7).

- Stages 1 and 2 combine to develop physical literacy in children before they reach puberty so they have the basic movement and multi-sport skills to support their being Active for Life. Physical literacy also provides the foundation for those youth who choose to pursue more intense training in one or more sports or activities after age 12.
- Stages 3 and 4 provide opportunities for older children to play multi-sports while reinforcing general sport skills as well as learning sport specific skills and tactics within more formalized methods of training and competition.
- Stages 5 and 6 provide more intense training for those youth and adults who want to begin to specialize in one sport and compete at the highest level possible, by maximizing their physical, mental and emotional development.
- Stage 7 is about staying Active for Life through lifelong participation in competitive and/or recreational sport(s) or physical activity(s).

Long-Term Athlete Development Framework

1. Active Start

Learning basic movement skills and linking them together with play.
